Boiler Systems Q&As

1. Are Canadian-built boilers allowed to be used in Wisconsin?

Answer: Yes, as long as they meet the requirements of Canadian standard CSA B51. The Manufacturers Data Report (MDR) for that boiler should be reviewed.

2. I want to build my own boiler and use it to heat my business building and provide steam or hot water for my process. Can I build my own boiler and use it?

Answer: No. SPS 341.42 requires that all boilers in Wisconsin be constructed to ASME Standards and registered with the National Board. For more information contact Kim.Schmitt@wi.gov, Phone: 262-524-3950.

3. Can someone build and operate a 2- inch scale hobby boiler in Wisconsin?

Answer: No. SPS 341.42 requires ASME construction. For more information contact Kim.Schmitt@wi.gov, Phone: 262-524-3950.
